

PROF. F.Neşe ŞAHİN,PhD

Ankara University Faculty of Sports Science, TURKEY

e-mail:nesesahin@ankara.edu.tr

She graduated from METU (Middle East Technical University) in 1998. After completing her master's (2000) education at METU Physical Education and Sports Department, she submitted her PhD dissertation in 2005. Her research interests include effects of different exercise interventions on the young athletes, female athlete and their health problems. She has research articles, book editor and author in international and national journals. Moreover, she participated as invited speaker at various national and international congresses and contributed to the training and development seminars of many sports federations.

She still continues to lecture and research as a full-time professor at Ankara University Faculty of Sport Sciences. In addition, she is head of Sports Health Sciences Department.